

Directions from the Library

From the Tourist Office entrance carefully cross what appears to be a pedestrianised area but is actually the junction of Gwynne Street and King Street. Immediately in front of you will be the entrance to Cathedral Close.

Carry straight on across the Close, keeping the Cathedral on your right. You should cross a small car park used by the Cathedral School until you come to a set of metal railings that mark the end of the Close.

Take the opening on the right and proceed into Castle Street before almost immediately taking the turning on the right into Quay Street.

Walk along Quay Street until you see the sign for Castle Green. You will emerge into a grassy area flanked by the short Castle Hill Street and the end of Quay Street. Continue along Quay Street, passing The Friends of Castle Green information boards on the wall to your right.

Proceed through the concrete bollards that mark the end of Quay Street and continue up the slope between two hedges and Castle Cliff on your right. At the top of this short slope you will emerge onto Castle Green proper.

Keep to the right and pass the Castle Green Training Centre. Continue straight on passing three wooden benches until the pathway slopes down to meet the Mill Street and Nelson Street junction. Carry on straight through four green bollards into Nelson Street.

Proceed along Nelson Street passing on your right the entrances to Wye Way, Nightingale Way, Florence Gardens and finally River Close. Do not turn into any of these entrances.

At the end of Nelson Street you will reach the Harold Street and Green Street junction. Cross the road carefully and carry straight on into Harold Street, you should pass Bartonsham Stores on your right.

After a short distance you should pass the Volunteer Inn on your left. Carry straight on. Across the road on your right you will notice a fenced off green area and then an entrance to the Hereford and Worcester Cadet Force HQ.

Carry straight on until you reach the junction of Harold Street and Bartonsham Road and immediately to your right, across Harold Street, is the entrance to Herefordshire Record Office.
