

Helping you pay for social care

Deferred payment agreements

The Care Act 2014 aims to help make care and support more consistent across the country.

Care and support is the term used to describe the help some adults need to live as well as possible with any illness or disability they may have. It can include help with things like washing, dressing, eating, getting out and about and keeping in touch with family or friends. If you receive care and support or you support someone as a carer, you could benefit from a deferred payment agreement.

Choosing a deferred payment agreement

A deferred payment agreement is an arrangement with the council that enables some residents to use the value of their home to pay for their care and support costs.

If you are eligible, we will help pay your care and support costs on your behalf, so you don't have to immediately sell your home to cover these costs. You can delay repaying us until you choose to sell your home or until after you have passed away.

We will charge a small amount of interest on the amount owed to us and a fee for setting up the arrangement. The fee only covers the council's administration costs and is non-profit making. Please take a look at our schedule of fees and charges enclosed within this leaflet for more details.

Who can apply for a deferred payment?

In order to apply for a deferred payment, you must:

- Have savings and investments of less than £23,250 (not including the value of your home or pension fund)
- Be professionally assessed as requiring and be entering permanent residential / nursing care in a registered care home
- Own or have part legal ownership of your own home, which is not benefitting from a property disregard. Your home must also be registered with the Land Registry
- Have mental capacity to agree to a deferred payment or have a legally appointed agent willing to agree on your behalf

Considering your options

A deferred payment agreement will not be suitable for everyone, for example if you're still living in your own home this will not be appropriate for you. There's also other ways to pay for your care.

You could choose to rent out your property and use the income to cover the full cost of your care. There are advantages to this as you will not accrue a debt, be liable for deferred payment interest or administration charges and your property will be occupied. Your tenant will also pay all utility and council tax costs, which will reduce your outgoings.

There are also various equity release schemes available, which may be suitable for your personal circumstances.

You could also choose to pay the full cost of your care from any available income and savings / assets or alternatively a family member may choose to pay some or all of the cost for you.

We highly recommend that you obtain independent financial and legal advice before deciding which course of action is best for your circumstances.
