

The Child Law Advice Service has operated a telephone helpline offering legal advice to parents, carers and young people for over 10 years.

We provide free legal resources with advice and information on all aspects family, child and education law affecting children and families. We also operate two limited intensive support telephone lines for complex matters and clarifying questions one dedicated for Family and Child Law and one for Education Law.

We cover areas of Family, Child and Education Law including:

- Attending Court – advice for Litigants in person
 - Relationship Breakdown
 - Parental Disputes
 - Duties of Children's Services
 - Child Protection
 - Exclusions
 - Admissions
 - Special Education Needs
 - Bullying

To access this service and to view the range of advice we provide please visit our website www.childlawadvice.org.uk to access this information and our advice line numbers.